

WHAT IS CLAIMED IS:

1. A cloth hood made of a flexible cloth comprising a pair of bilaterally symmetrical twin pieces with edges thereof combined together, a gap being formed at a position corresponding to that of each eye in respective pieces, a jutting portion being formed below each gap, a recess portion being defined at somewhere below the jutting portion and along the peripheral stitch line of the cloth hood, another recess portion being defined oppositely to the foregoing recess portion, top and bottom ends of the cloth hood being shaped in arc style.
2. The cloth hood according to Claim 1, wherein the cloth hood is made with a flexible non-woven cloth.